More than half of Illinois cities get “F” grades for local pensions

Mendota

2019 Grade: D

In 2003, Mendota’s police, fire and municipal pension funds already faced a shortfall of $2.6 million. That meant every Mendota household, on average, was on the hook for $961 in future taxes just to eliminate that shortfall.

Mendota began contributing more money – taxpayer dollars – to pensions in an attempt to make the plans healthier. Over the next 16 years, city contributions increasingly crowded out spending for public safety, roads and other core services.

	2003	2019	Change
City (taxpayer) contributions to pensions	$0.18 million	$0.85 million	Up 4.7X
Share of city general budget for pensions	6.1%	14.8%	Up 2.4X

Despite the ramp-up in city payments over those 16 years, Mendota’s pension debts didn’t decrease. Instead, they jumped by 2.9 times!

By 2019, the shortfall in Mendota’s police, fire and municipal pension funds totaled $7.7 million. That means each Mendota household, on average, is now on the hook for $2,780 in debt.

Everyone loses under Mendota’s pension crisis:

Taxpayers are tapped out

Mendota residents are paying more and more into a broken system. City taxpayers in 2019 contributed 4.7 times more to pensions than in 2003, yet city debts are 2.9 times larger.

Pension costs are devouring the city’s budget

Mendota pension contributions have grown to consume 14.8% of the city’s budget, up from 6.1% in 2003. That’s crowded out spending on public safety, roads and other core services.

Mendota worker retirement security is collapsing

The health of Mendota’s local pension plans have worsened despite those increased taxpayer contributions. In 2003, the plans had 69.9% of the money they needed. By 2019, that had dropped to just 62.7%.

Mendota’s crisis will only get worse

Mendota has fewer active government workers available to help pay for a growing number of retirees. In 2003, there were 1.62 active workers for every pensioner. By 2019, there were 1.40 active workers per pensioner.
