

COMMUNITIES IN CRISIS

More than half of Illinois cities get “F” grades for local pensions

Peru

2019 Grade: D

In 2003, Peru’s police, fire and municipal pension funds already faced a shortfall of $5.0 million. That meant every Peru household, on average, was on the hook for $1,215 in future taxes just to eliminate that shortfall.

Peru began contributing more money – taxpayer dollars – to pensions in an attempt to make the plans healthier. Over the next 16 years, city contributions increasingly crowded out spending for public safety, roads and other core services.

	2003	2019	Change
City (taxpayer) contributions to pensions	$0.32 million	$1.84 million	Up 5.8X
Share of city general budget for pensions	4.3%	12.0%	Up 2.8X

Despite the ramp-up in city payments over those 16 years, Peru’s pension debts didn’t decrease. Instead, they jumped by 3.0 times!

By 2019, the shortfall in Peru’s police, fire and municipal pension funds totaled $15.2 million. That means each Peru household, on average, is now on the hook for $3,531 in debt.

Everyone loses under Peru’s pension crisis:

Taxpayers are tapped out

Peru residents are paying more and more into a broken system. City taxpayers in 2019 contributed 5.8 times more to pensions than in 2003, yet city debts are 3.0 times larger.

Pension costs are devouring the city’s budget

Peru pension contributions have grown to consume 12.0% of the city’s budget, up from 4.3% in 2003. That’s crowded out spending on public safety, roads and other core services.

Peru worker retirement security is collapsing

The health of Peru’s local pension plans have worsened despite those increased taxpayer contributions. In 2003, the plans had 73.0% of the money they needed. By 2019, that had dropped to just 63.1%.

Peru’s crisis will only get worse

Peru has fewer active government workers available to help pay for a growing number of retirees. In 2003, there were 1.32 active workers for every pensioner. By 2019, there were 1.04 active workers per pensioner.

Peru receives a "D" grade for its local pension crisis

Local officials handcuffed by state pension mandates.

Wirepoints quantified the negative impact of local pensions by examining the finances of Illinois' 175 largest cities from 2003 to 2019. The analysis was based on ten equally-weighted metrics. Cities were given an A through F grade based on a 100-point scale (10 points per metric).*

Peru received a "D" grade in 2019. The city's total score dropped from 70 in 2003 to 65 in 2019, a decline of 5 points.

Peru was one of 64 cities to receive a "D" grade in 2019.
