More than half of Illinois cities get “F” grades for local pensions

Pontiac

2019 Grade: D

In 2003, Pontiac’s police, fire and municipal pension funds already faced a shortfall of $1.3 million. That meant every Pontiac household, on average, was on the hook for $318 in future taxes just to eliminate that shortfall.

Pontiac began contributing more money – taxpayer dollars – to pensions in an attempt to make the plans healthier. Over the next 16 years, city contributions increasingly crowded out spending for public safety, roads and other core services.

	2003	2019	Change
City (taxpayer) contributions to pensions	$0.27 million	$1.01 million	Up 3.7X
Share of city general budget for pensions	7.4%	16.0%	Up 2.2X

Despite the ramp-up in city payments over those 16 years, Pontiac’s pension debts didn’t decrease. Instead, they jumped by 8.9 times!

By 2019, the shortfall in Pontiac’s police, fire and municipal pension funds totaled $11.8 million. That means each Pontiac household, on average, is now on the hook for $2,719 in debt.

Everyone loses under Pontiac’s pension crisis:

Taxpayers are tapped out

Pontiac residents are paying more and more into a broken system. City taxpayers in 2019 contributed 3.7 times more to pensions than in 2003, yet city debts are 8.9 times larger.

Pension costs are devouring the city’s budget

Pontiac pension contributions have grown to consume 16.0% of the city’s budget, up from 7.4% in 2003. That’s crowded out spending on public safety, roads and other core services.

Pontiac worker retirement security is collapsing

The health of Pontiac’s local pension plans have worsened despite those increased taxpayer contributions. In 2003, the plans had 90.9% of the money they needed. By 2019, that had dropped to just 65.0%.

Pontiac’s crisis will only get worse

Pontiac has fewer active government workers available to help pay for a growing number of retirees. In 2003, there were 2.67 active workers for every pensioner. By 2019, there were 1.03 active workers per pensioner.
