

COMMUNITIES IN CRISIS

More than half of Illinois cities get “F” grades for local pensions

Glenview

2019 Grade: D

In 2003, Glenview’s police, fire and municipal pension funds already faced a shortfall of $50.5 million. That meant every Glenview household, on average, was on the hook for $3,276 in future taxes just to eliminate that shortfall.

Glenview began contributing more money – taxpayer dollars – to pensions in an attempt to make the plans healthier. Over the next 16 years, city contributions increasingly crowded out spending for public safety, roads and other core services.

	2003	2019	Change
City (taxpayer) contributions to pensions	$2.11 million	$8.05 million	Up 3.8X
Share of city general budget for pensions	6.3%	10.9%	Up 1.7X

Despite the ramp-up in city payments over those 16 years, Glenview’s pension debts didn’t decrease. Instead, they jumped by 1.9 times!

By 2019, the shortfall in Glenview’s police, fire and municipal pension funds totaled $96.3 million. That means each Glenview household, on average, is now on the hook for $5,462 in debt.

Everyone loses under Glenview’s pension crisis:

Taxpayers are tapped out

Glenview residents are paying more and more into a broken system. City taxpayers in 2019 contributed 3.8 times more to pensions than in 2003, yet city debts are 1.9 times larger.

Pension costs are devouring the city’s budget

Glenview pension contributions have grown to consume 10.9% of the city’s budget, up from 6.3% in 2003. That’s crowded out spending on public safety, roads and other core services.

Glenview worker retirement security is still at risk

The health of Glenview’s local pension plans have stagnated despite increased taxpayer contributions. In 2003, the plans had 60.0% of the money they needed. By 2019, that had increased slightly to just 69.3%, far from healthy.

Glenview’s crisis will only get worse

Glenview has fewer active government workers available to help pay for a growing number of retirees. In 2003, there were 1.87 active workers for every pensioner. By 2019, there were 0.87 active workers per pensioner.

2019 GRADE

2003 GRADE

Glenview receives a “D” grade for its local pension crisis

Local officials handcuffed by state pension mandates.

Wirepoints quantified the negative impact of local pensions by examining the finances of Illinois’ 175 largest cities from 2003 to 2019. The analysis was based on ten equally-weighted metrics. Cities were given an A through F grade based on a 100-point scale (10 points per metric).*

Glenview received a “D” grade in 2019. The city’s total score dropped from 70 in 2003 to 69 in 2019, a decline of 1 points.
